

The Extender is put in place on the hinge side of the door. Velcro is applied to the Extender and fastened in place. The Door Shield is then put in place butted up against the Extender. Make the necessary adjustments to the hardware knockouts and fasten the Velcro on the strike side of the door. Using packing tape, connect the Door Shield and the Extender where the folds meet at the seam.

